Frederic Man Killed In Accident

A 40-year old Frederic man was killed early Sunday morning, October 7, when he lost control of his car on a curve, skidding into some trees and rolling his car over.

Larry Gene Bottenfield, who was not wearing a seat belt, was thrown clear of his car, and was pronounced dead at the scene by the Crawford County Medical Examiner. He was alone in the car.

The Frederic Township Ambulance received the accident call at 1:30 a.m. The accident occurred on County Road 612 west of Frederic, about one mile east of Manistee River Road.

The accident remains under investigation by the Crawford County Sheriff Department.

KCC Millage Defeated 2908-2171

Crawford County voters approved Kirtland Community College's request for an additional one and one-half mills for five years for operational purposes, but voters in Roscommon, Ogemaw and Oscoda counties turned it down. The unofficial results of the October 9th election are 2908 No to 2171 Yes.

In Crawford County the millage passed in precinct 1 (the City of Grayling and Grayling Township), 334 yes to 261 no, but failed in precinct 2 (Frederic), 52 no to 61 yes, and precinct 3 (Lovells), 51 no to 39 yes.

Kirtland Community College President Raymond Homer said the college's Board of Trustees would be meeting on Thursday, October 12, and he was sure how Kirtland should proceed in lieu of the millage defeat would be discussed.

Homer said if the Board of Trustees approves another millage election it would probably not be held until March or April of 1990. Another option would be to wait until June, when Kirtland's Board of Trustees election is scheduled.

ACT Members Head To Lansing Hearing

An AuSable Conservation Trust (ACT) contingent of their membership will be attending the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission public hearing in Lansing on October 17.

The commission will be considering whether or not to approve a Permit to Install application submitted by Georgia-Pacific Resins, Inc. for a formaldehyde process, proposed for the Georgia-Pacific Resin Plant on Four Mile Road in Beaver Creek Township.

ACT President Linda Caswell said a contingent representing ACT's membership of over 150 members which opposes G-P's proposed construction of a formaldehyde processing plant, will be submitting signed petitions from Crawford County residents who agree with ACT's opposition.

On Saturday, October 7, ACT supporters traveled to the Georgia-Pacific Resin Plant gate and released 140 helium filled balloons with tags which read, "Hi, I'm representing ACT. If you find me, call 348-4984, collect. Thank you."

Another 100 balloons were released on Sunday, October 8.

The purpose of the two balloon launches was to check which way the wind blows. A survey will be taken from people finding these balloons to determine where the formaldehyde stack emissions may be going.

Crawford's CSC Rate High for the Area

By Irene Pettyjohn

Victim, victims, victimization and re-victimization. Just as these words appear to become increasingly worse, so does the victimization that results from the occurrence of criminal sexual conduct (CSC). In Crawford County local and state police law enforcement agencies have received 24 reports of possible CSC cases from January 1 through mid-August, and several of these reports involve multiple charges, bringing the total to 29 separate incidences.

The Crawford County Sheriff Department has investigated 19 CSC cases, the Grayling City Police four, and the Houghton Lake State Police Post one.

Of the 29 CSC charges, 27 incidences were substantiated and are in various legal stages. Ten cases have been to court for trial, five cases are currently in court, and the remaining cases are either pending court action or being actively investigated.

"The fact that one CSC incidence occurred in Crawford County this year is shocking," said Assistant Prosecuting Attorney David Sabin, "but the real shock comes when we learn that most of the victims in CSC cases are children."

County	Population	reported Criminal Sexual Conduct cases (Jan. 1 to Aug. 10, 1989)
Crawford	9,465	29
Roscommon	16,374	12
Otsego	14,993	11
Oscoda	6,858	7

All but two of Crawford County's 27 substantiated cases involved juvenile victims.

Sabin said that unfortunately, many CSC incidences involving children go unreported.

"Because most CSC cases are the product of incest (family member as perpetrator), pressure is brought to bear on the victim to keep quiet, and not upset the family structure," he said.

ONLY TIP OF NASTY ICEBERG

For this reason Lt. Jim Parker, a detective with the Crawford County Sheriff Department, is convinced reported CSC cases are only the tip of a very nasty iceberg.

"It's not that it is not happening to adults," he said. "Rape, sexual harassment, and other forms of CSC occur all the time, the difference is that embarrassment and fear of public exposure keeps the adults from reporting them."

To determine how the number of CSC in Crawford County compared to nearby counties, statistics were gathered from Roscommon, Otsego and Oscoda counties. The findings were:

* Crawford County, population 9,465: 29 reported cases, 27 substantiated, 27 cases involved in court or still being investigated, 25 involved juveniles.

* Roscommon County (figures from Richfield Township unavailable), population 16,374: 12 reported cases, 7 substantiated, 7 cases involved in court or still being investigated, 7 cases involved juveniles.

* Otsego County population 14,993: 11 reported, 8 substantiated, 4 dismissed by prosecutor (no warrants issued), 4 under investigation, 8 involved juveniles.

* Oscoda County, population 6,858: 7 reported cases, 5 substantiated, 4 cases pending court action, there was no report on how many Oscoda cases involved juveniles.

CSC CASES INCREASING?

From these statistics, Crawford County appears to have considerably more CSC cases than her neighbors. While conducting the comparison there also seemed to be some disagreement about whether CSC cases were actually increasing or whether they were just being reported more.

An officer from the West Branch State Police post said CSC cases were increasing with nearly 10 times as many being reported now than five or ten years ago. He credited some of the increase to better education in communities, but said it was occurring in greater frequency, too.

Sabin and Lt. Parker credit the increase reporting to better education of children.

"People are now identifying their father, brother, sister, mother, aunt and uncle as perpetrator," said Sabin, "and themselves as victim."

Dr. Cross agreed that children are reporting sexual abuse more, and speculated that increases may be due in part because the "blended family" (divorced and remarried couples) allows perpetrators to rationalize their abusive behavior by saying this isn't really my daughter or my son.

An officer with the Gaylord City Police Department said they very seldom get a CSC report.

Are Crawford County children better educated and consequently reporting the cases more than the children in Roscommon, Otsego and Oscoda counties? Or are Crawford County's children being victimized more often than children in these neighboring counties?

Sabin said that every prosecutor evaluates potential CSC complaints differently. Some will

Local Victim Says Children Not Protected Enough

(The following interview is with a Crawford County woman who suffered sexual abuse as a child growing up in our community and learned how it affected her life. It was her hope that by revealing her experiences that other victims will better understand their own victimization and inform them that there is help out there if they will just look for it. She has asked that her name be withheld from the article to protect her family.)

"In my opinion, incest is the worst form of sexual abuse," said a Crawford County woman who refers to herself as a survivor of incest. "It is usually not confined to one incidence like rape is, but is a reoccurring nightmare that is compounded because the victims are usually children. Incest is further compounded by the fact that the perpetrator either lives in the home or is a frequent visitor to the home making telling someone about the abuse very difficult for a child."

CHILDREN NO LONGER AS PRECIOUS

"It would not surprise me if the incidence of criminal sexual conduct is increasing," she said. "Children are no longer considered a precious commodity. Society does not adequately protect them from abusive family situations (too little monies for adequate staffing for social service and protective service agencies), from educational systems that can afford to pay for athletic and band programs, but cannot afford a school nurse or an adequate counselling staff to meet the needs of the children, and from the television industry (those producing the programs available, the advertisers who sponsor the programs, and the individual television stations who broadcast the programs) which exhibits little or no responsibility in protecting children from the often gruesome realities of adult life, that even some adults have a difficult time comprehending."

"It all comes down to priorities and the almighty dollar, and in my opinion, the children are being short-changed," she said.

CHILDREN NOT CARED FOR

"I have known people, parents of small children, who spent more time researching which new car was the best buy for the money than they did the credentials of the day care center or baby sitter they entrusted with their children. Economic need, greed and career pursuit are causing parents to turn over the care of their children to virtual strangers. As statistics show, all too often these children are not being 'cared for' but abused and many times this abuse comes in the form of sexual abuse."

"In my case, my mother did not work outside the home until my brother and I were in high school," she said. "Like so many cases of sexual

4 Grayling Men Survive U.P. Airplane Crash

Four Grayling men were injured on Sunday, October 1, when their 4-seat Cessna 177 Cardinal overshot the Manistique Schoolcraft Airport runway and crashed into a field.

Grayling City Police Chief Peter Stephan, 52, pilot of the aircraft, injured his hip in the crash, and was taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Later Sunday evening he was transferred to Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey where he underwent surgery for a dislocated hip. He was released from the hospital on Wednesday, October 3, and has returned to administrative duties with the police department.

His three passengers, Dale Peterson, 58, Jay Stephan, 63, and Daniel Peterson, 34, suffered a variety of minor cuts and injuries and sought their own medical treatment.

The crash occurred at about 11 a.m. when Stephan became distracted by a radio transmission from the airport in Manistee.

"I had been in radio contact with the Manistique airport," said Stephan, "and had been given the active runway and altimeter setting for runway 19 with no reported traffic."

Stephan said runway 19 in Manistique is not a very long runway, about 2500 feet, so he set his landing to begin on the most northern portion to allow plenty of room to execute the landing safely.

"When I was on my descent, I heard another aircraft call Manistee airport saying he was landing on runway 27," Stephan said. "I mistook

Grayling Man Awarded For Helping Choking Man

Ron Gilbert, an operator at Georgia-Pacific Corp.'s Beaver Creek resin facility, received the company's Valor Award for saving the life of a choking victim in a restaurant.

Gilbert was eating dinner at Country Kitchen Restaurant near Kalkaska when a man at a nearby table began to choke on a piece of meat. "The man could not speak or cough," says Gilbert.

"He stood up from the table and began to turn white. He was in obvious distress."

Gilbert, who had completed the Red Cross CPR and First Aid courses at the plant two weeks earlier, rushed to the man, performed the Heimlich maneuver and dislodged the meat from the man's throat.

After the incident the victim recounted that he could not breathe and was beginning to black out.

Wadsworth Wins Weyerhaeuser President's Citizenship Award

Jim Wadsworth, of Grayling, has won the President's Citizenship Award for 1989. The award was established in 1988 to encourage community work among Weyerhaeuser employees. One person from each state with at least 200 Weyerhaeuser employees receives the award. Wadsworth was awarded the President's trophy and a $1000 check to the charity of his choice was written by the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation.

Wadsworth has been involved in many forest and land management organizations at the local, state and national levels. He has become a voice for responsible forest management, working with committees and agencies to shape policies and decisions which directly affect not only Weyerhaeuser but numerous other forest products industries in Michigan. In 1988 he was appointed by Governor Blanchard and the State Legislature as a member of the Michigan Forest Products Industry Development Council. Wadsworth also chairs the Timber Supply Subcommittee which deals with issues and ultimate decisions ranging from federal and state forest management legislation to education.

He was instrumental in gaining a grant from the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation to sponsor "Michigan Outdoors." His efforts in this area will be essential in the education of sportsmen, conservationists and industry in the principles of responsible forest and land management.

In addition to his activities related to sound forest management, Wadsworth is a 4-H referee and assistant coach and an active church member -- he sings in the choir, teaches high school Sunday School classes, and serves as Chairman of the Pastor-Parish Relations Committee. He is a member of American Foresters, Michigan and Pennsylvania Forestry Associations, and the American Forestry Association. Jim was recently appointed to the Grayling Township Board of Review.

Jim is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Forestry. He joined Weyerhaeuser in 1978 as a timber buyer in New Freedom, Pennsylvania. He served as production supervisor and raw materials supervisor before transferring to Grayling in 1981 as Raw Materials Manager. He became Procurement Manager in 1988. Jim and his wife, Karen, have two sons, Andrew and Joel.

Opinions

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

I was digging through some of my junk today and found my old W. W. II ration book. That sure brought forth a lot of memories. Sugar, coffee, meat, vegetables, shoes and gas were some of the items that were rationed. I remember meat was on the point system, each kind and cut was so many points. Women had to plan meals that used the fewest points or there was no meat on the table until the next stamps came out.

Coffee and sugar were the ones that bothered us the most. Mom saved all the sugar she could to use in canning and baking. We used saccharin tablets to sweeten our morning cup of coffee. Mom canned a lot of our food back then and needed the sugar we saved. I remember that some folks canned blackberries by dropping an aspirin tablet in each jar instead of sugar. It must have worked because I don't remember anyone dying from eating them.

Gas was rationed not only to save gas but also to save tires which were just about impossible to get in those days. Every place you looked you saw signs which read "IS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?" If you ran out of gas you had to park it till you got stamps again. If I remember right you were allowed two pairs of shoes a year, which was all right-- except if your feet were growing fast, then you had to buy shoes a size or two too large. There was a freeze on prices and wages during the war which held things down, pretty well. I can remember even used farm equipment was price-controlled. At farm auctions they would auction off a bale of hay (which was not controlled) and throw in a tractor, to the highest bidder. I've seen a bale of hay sell for a couple of thousand dollars. For the most part everyone worked and supported the war effort. Our country was more united during that period than at any other time of my life.

Thanks to a couple of real nice folks, Jack and Dorothy McClain, the old man is enjoying a genuine home-made mincemeat pie. He was sitting in his Sand Lake home, minding his own business when he read my column. I mentioned Mom's home-made mincemeat. He thought about how good his Mother's was and got busy and made a batch of mincemeat, with the help of his good wife. They were kind enough to bring the old man a mincemeat pie. Thank you, Jack and Dorothy, it is super good. Now, what can I think of that would really taste good, now that I've got that pie. Maybe I can make this column pay off after all.

Letters to the Editor Lower Speed On I-75 Business Loop

Letters to the Editor—Just been reading in the Avalanche, about the plans for altering the I-75 loop. The article admits the danger of the loop. Nothing was written about lowering the speed limit, where the entrance ramp enters the city. If the speed limit were lowered to M.P.H., and enforced, you would see a drastic reduction in the number of accidents, caused by cars and trucks speeding through Grayling. Also, most everyone agrees that cars are driving too fast and carelessly in the mall itself.

Aircraft Flying Limited Patterns for Testing

Dear Editor:
RE: To Mike Delp, Interlochen;

If you would have read in the past Avalanches, you would have read that the A-7 Jets and the AH-64's are flying a limited time and space pattern, and the "recreational activities" are for the flatlanders and passer-bys like yourself who come into the Grayling area and try to take over, during hunting and fishing seasons.

No, your pupils won't run down your cheeks either, but they might ruin your T-shirts!

No, I'm not one of these flag wavers either, but I don't believe in burning Our Flag.

I do agree that the other half should fill up a shoe box full of sand, but they should take the sand to Interlochen so you all can whine together.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen
Avalanche Columnist

Television and I have grown up together. My mother recalls that as a toddler, I could be enticed inside from outdoor play with the promise that it was "Howdy Doody Time."

On Saturday mornings I watched kids shows from eight until noon. My favorites were "Fury" and "Sky King."

Every Sunday evening I cried at the adventures of Timmy and his collie Lassie. To this day, just hearing the theme music to "Lassie" can make me cry.

I was a faithful viewer of "Walt Disney." Jiminy Cricket played a significant role in the development of my ethical system and my ability to spell "e-n-c-y-c-l-o-p-e-d-i-a" correctly. Every time I write that word, I sing its spelling in my head.

I used to beg my parents to let me stay up until 9:00 (8:30 was my bedtime) to watch the entire hour of "Bonanza." I was in love with Michael Landon as Little Joe Cartwright.

On Friday evenings, I went next door to Sandy Porebski's house, where we ate popcorn and watched "Rawhide." Kids today think that Clint Eastwood is Dirty Harry and says, "Come on, make my day." A younger Eastwood of nearly three decades ago was cowherder Rowdy Yates and said, "Head 'em up, move 'em out."

In my teens I watched Rob and Laura Petrie on "The Dick Van Dyke Show." Then I followed Mary Tyler Moore to her own sitcom. And from that show, I followed Valerie Harper to "Rhoda."

With my college friends I watched the soap opera spoof "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman." As TV became more cynical and irreverent, I turned to "All in the Family," "Maude" and "Soap."

My relationships with characters on television were just that -- relationships. It was nearly always the actor or the show that dropped me, the faithful viewer, rather than the reverse.

I missed Billie and Rossi after the "Lou Grant Show" was cancelled. I worried about Sam and Diane after she called off the wedding on "Cheers." I hated saying good-bye to the cops on "Hill Street Blues" when it completed its run.

Yet, at the same time, my television viewing habits were changing. As I became aware of TV's limitations -- poor programming, poor quality, poor taste with occasional exceptions -- I increasingly turned my attention to other media forms: to radio, cassette tapes and movies.

I stopped watching most shows, sporadically caught a few, and totally missed others. Although "St. Elsewhere" was reputed to be a fine series, for example, I never watched enough episodes to develop a real interest in the plot or the characters. I have never seen "China Beach," "Thirtysomething," "Married with Children," or "The Wonder Years," although I hear they are good.

Instead, I listen to "All Things Considered" and reruns of "A Prairie Home Companion" on National Public Radio. Oc-asionally I catch the McNeill-Lehrer News Hour or some special on 6, the Public Broadcasting Channel.

I play Dave's Gregorian chants and Japanese space music and Buckwheat Zydeco tapes. I rent films to watch on our VCR. I catch the major motion pictures that come to the Rialto.

But with the exception of "L.A. Law," which I always watch (we bought our video cassette player long after everybody else on the block had one in order to tape an episode we had to miss), and my favorite, the "Today" show, I don't watch much TV anymore.

Which brings me, finally, to my point. I wish that NBC would quit fooling around with "Today" and leave well enough alone.

I have been a loyal fan of NBC's morning news show for as long as I can remember. But now the network is messing around with "Today" and I don't like it.

Recently they demoted the perfectly adequate newsman John Palmer to "NBC News at Sunrise" and brought up Deborah Norville to fill his position plus sit around and chat with Bryant and Jane. Norville's good, but that seemed sort of nasty to do to John, who was a competent employee.

So okay, I'll learn to live with that if John can be a sport about it. But now I hear that NBC is talking about Deborah Norville replacing Jane Pauley as co-host. I say forget it. Jane is an institution on "Today."

In her mid-twenties when she replaced Barbara Walters ten years ago, she has -- literally and professionally -- grown up on "Today" and I've grown up with her. I converse with her daily through my television set. She is always "Jane," never "Pauley" and rarely "Jane Pauley."

She makes nice harmony with her co-host, confident and sometimes pompous Bryant Gumbel; with the weatherman, gregarious and sometimes tasteless Willard Scott; with the movie reviewer, witty and sometimes unpredictable Gene Shalit. They have some flaws, sure, but I like them and "Today" the way they are.

Now NBC is forcing Jane to harmonize with the competent, beautiful and younger Deborah Norville. That's alright. They do fine together. I even like it when Bryant's on assignment or vacation and the women get to host by themselves.

But I don't want to hear any more about Jane talking with execs about her contract expiring or her uncertain future with the network. No more gossip about Deborah Norville replacing her as co-host. NBC should leave their number 1 morning news shows alone. I like it as it is.

I survived the loss of Howdy Doody, Little Joe, Rhoda Morgenstern and the others over the years. But Jane Pauley is one of the few personalities keeping my tenuous ties with television alive. If Jane goes, I may defect also. NPR has "Morning Edition," a great news and features program. I can hear my radio calling to me.

Bridge Study May Be Costly

I SEE BY THE PAPERS that the Michigan Legislature is going to study the safety of the Mackinac Bridge.

A special House Subcommittee on the Safety of the Mackinac Bridge will be headed by Rep. Bart Stupak of Menominee, who crosses the bridge every time he drives between his home and his job.

The subcommittee will try to determine whether new wind-warning policies or modifications to guardrails are needed.

What prompts the study, of course, is the tragic accident wherein a subcompact car flew off the bridge during a time of high winds.

Witnesses claim the car was blown off the bridge by the wind; bridge authorities claim the driver must have been speeding and the car flew out of control. Whoever was in the car is just as dead, either way.

This is the first time a vehicle has fallen from the bridge since it was opened in 1957. At that time, most cars weighed a couple of tons; a subcompact car today can weigh less than half that.

Maybe the study is needed maybe the guardrails are too low maybe some changes should be made. Any way you look at it, the majestic Mackinac Bridge always is an attention-getter, even when you study it.

It will be interesting to see how much the bridge investigation will cost the taxpayers. It will be even more interesting to see the price tag of any modifications which will be ordered because of it.

Any death is tragic. A car flying off the Mackinac Bridge -- whether because of wind or speed -- is downright spectacular.

Let's hope the studying lawmakers keep the solution in proportion to the problem.

I SEE BY THE PAPERS that the Detroit school board got a bill it wasn't expecting.

Wallowing deep in financial problems -- as it usually is -- the Detroit Board of Education last winter hired a consultant to study how to save money. Coopers and Lybrand accounting firm was retained, at a proposed $562,350 cost which seemed rather high by itself. But what the heck the state was going to pay $250,000 of the fee, which spread the tax supported cost burden statewide.

But that was February. By September, the cost of the study on how to save money had risen by almost 75 percent. The bill became $965,922.

There was immediate shuffling of feet among Detroit school folks about who authorized what and how this came about and whether the bill will be paid. Somehow, I'll bet, it will.

This is an example of what can happen to government studies. Spending plans in all governments just seem to grow and grow and grow.

Here's a suggestion to Detroit schools on how to save money: Don't have any more studies.

Michigan Legislature: Please pay attention.

I SEE BY THE PAPERS the Air Force has said "no" to a proposal to fly a military employee across the country so he can die at home.

A young computer technician, who is a civilian defense Department computer operator in California, is dying of brain cancer. He grew up in Massachusetts and wants to die near his family and friends. But he's too weak to fly commercially, and his family can't afford the $29,000 to hire a cross-country air ambulance.

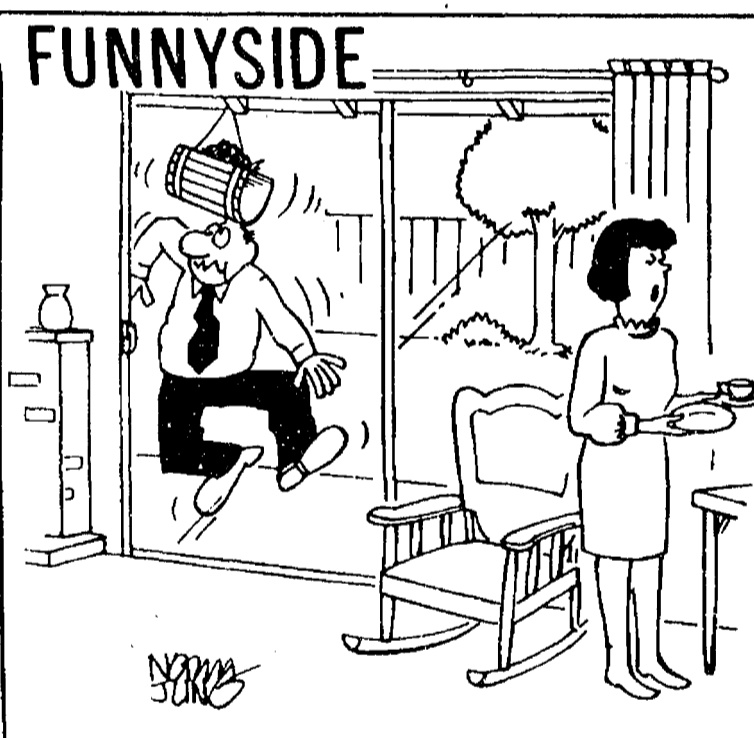

So the Air Force was asked to give him a military air ambulance ride home and, of course, the politicians came out of the woods to put in a good word for the young man and his family.

The Air Force said "no." It would violate service regulations, and cost too much money, they said.

Maybe, but it also makes sense from an overall use of taxpayer resources.

If the military could help the young man and his family in the normal course of military activities, then they should do it. But special, rules-breaking, tax-spendings mercy seems a bit out of order here despite many other questionable uses of public resources.

The Air Force denial may well seem cold and heartless, but it's right on this one.

"Did you notice the new planter I bought, dear?"

require stronger cases than others before they will agree to prosecute. Some will not prosecute unless there is a guilty plea.

"We probably jump on most of the cases we receive," he said, "as long as we feel comfortable that a conviction is possible. I am sure we take some cases that other prosecutors wouldn't."

Sabin and Parker said that once a CSC case gets to court the likelihood of a conviction, or that the suspect will plead guilty is good.

VICTIMIZATION SPREADS

Victimization begins with the criminal acts and then seems to spread out in all directions until it touches everyone in the community.

Sabin said the court can appear to be participating in re-victimization when, to insure that the defendant's rights are upheld, pot shots are taken at the victim's possible character imperfections such as lying, stealing or cheating, in an attempt to discredit the testimony.

Re-victimization can also occur when court trials end in hung juries or when the appellate court rules that, because of a technicality, a case must be retried.

Sabin said one such case was scheduled for its third trial when the mother of the victim said, "Enough is enough."

"I would have gone through with the trial," Sabin said, "because I felt strongly that the suspect should be in jail, but I could also understand the mother's concerns. In this case, the defendant plead guilty and was sentenced for time already served, and after only about two years, the defendant went free."

Grayling City Police Chief Peter Stephan explained that CSC victims can also be persons falsely accused of the crime.

"Even if innocence is proven beyond any doubt," he said, "the stigma of being accused never really disappears. In many cases the defendant's victimization includes an enormous legal debt."

Stephan said law enforcement agencies need to proceed with CSC investigations prudently, remembering that their job is to uphold the legal rights of both the suspected offender as well as the victim.

Other innocent victims in CSC cases includes every taxpayer in Crawford County who wind up paying the bill for costly trials and retrials.

LONG-TERM EFFECTS

Dr. Cross explained that abused children usually do not exhibit any effects of their abuse immediately after disclosure, although symptoms can occur at any time.

"Most of my sexually abused clients are in their forties, and trying to find out why they are so depressed," she said.

Victims of sexual abuse, especially incest, often suffer severe long-term effects that can take years to surface and can range from depression, anxiety, excessive and compulsive behavior, an inability to trust, promiscuity and serious personality disturbances to suicide. Because these problems manifest themselves years after the victimization occurred, rarely do these victims equate their suffering with their abused childhood experiences.

that after the plane hit the wire the left wing of Stephan's single-engine airplane hit the ground first causing the airplane to cartwheel across the field about six times before it came to rest on its top.

"Once the airplane hit the wire I knew we were done," Stephan said. "I hollered, 'Hang on we're goin' in', and tried to keep the nose of the plane up. After I felt the force of the initial impact and we took our first bounce, I remember thinking 'My God, I'm going to kill us all'."

Help was at the scene almost immediately, and Stephan said he couldn't believe he was still alive.

"While I was laying on the ground I just kept staring at Jay, Dale and Danny to reaffirm that they had all survived."

Stephan said the accident was the result of pilot error and that the Federal Aviation Administration is investigating the crash.

"They will determine whether confusion in the air over radio transmissions contributed to the crash," he said.

Stephan has been flying since 1968, receiving his pilot's license in 1971. Since that time he has logged over 250 hours of cockpit time.

abuse, mine was a case of incest (sexual abuse by a family member, usually an adult, but can also occur between siblings, cousins, etc. or persons in authority)." My perpetrator was Uncle Bill, who 'just loved little girls.' He and his wife didn't have children of their own so whenever my mother and father had to be away, my brother and I usually stayed with them. Uncle Bill was also there for Thanksgiving, Christmas, birthdays and occasional Sunday dinner when we all returned from church."

INCEST BEGAN AT AGE 6

"I was six years old when the incest began and it continued until I was in my early teens and Uncle Bill was transferred to another city. I never told anyone."

"Today, children are told by their parents, teachers and the news media to 'tell' if someone is doing or even talking in a way that makes the child uncomfortable, and this is great," she said. "They are told to tell and tell and tell until someone listens and does something to stop the hurting."

"Looking back on my situation, with the insights of an adult, I can understand how not telling anyone was possible. When I was growing full credit to this to my husband, who has understood the situation when I was still unable to do so. He is the one exception to my inability to trust."

OUT OF CONTROL

"When Uncle Bill moved from Grayling I thought my nightmare was over, and for many years it was," she said. "I thought I was fine, and then I began having children of my own, and found myself unable to leave them with anyone. About this same time I began to experience several other excessive behaviors such as drinking too much, buying dozens of pairs of shoes and throwing myself into massive projects to keep myself busy and to find self-worth through the praises of others. I could not stand to be home alone, so when the children were in school I was out contributing to and getting my needed perks from whatever causes I could find. While working on one of these projects, I accidentally learned about an incest survivor's group that met in Petoskey. It was at 'group', listening to other incest survivors, that I realized just how out of control I was, and I decided to begin psycho-therapy."

"Today, 31 years after the sexual abuse began. I am beginning to cope with its side effects," she said. "What happened happened; the consequences of the incest are real. I cannot change either of those occurrences, but through psycho-therapy and group exchanges, I have learned why I feel as I do, that I am not alone in those feelings, and that through understanding my sometimes compulsive behaviors I can also control them."

"Believe it or not," she said, "I am one of the lucky ones. Many incest victims become so confused and consumed by anger, hatred, resentment and their own low self-esteem that they do not understand, they destroy their lives through prostitution, drug and alcohol abuse, and even suicide. All because an adult did not act responsibly."

"Children are no longer considered a precious commodity."

the transmission as stating that he was landing on runway 27 Manistique, which would have put him on a 90 degree intersecting course with my landing pattern."

Frances Bernard, a radio operator at the Manistique airport said this was not the first time there has been confusion over the two airport names. "We try to say 'Manistique Schoolcraft Airport' to avoid confusion."

Believing the other aircraft was in his vicinity, Stephan said he asked Dale Peterson to help him look for the plane. Meanwhile Stephan's aircraft continued its landing approach, drifting down the runway.

"When I looked back to the instrument panel, I saw that my air speed was about 65 miles per hour, and I realized I had only about 1000 ft. of runway left."

Stephan was attempting to abort the landing and had raised the aircraft about 15 feet off the ground and maneuvered it over U.S. 2 when he saw the cable television wires (about one inch in diameter) stretched out in front of him.

Officer Lombardi, from the Alma police department, witnessed the crash and reported up in the fifty's and sixty's I was taught by my parents and teachers that if I could not say something nice about someone then not to say anything at all. I was taught to respect my elders, and to do what I was told," she said. "Being respectful was one of the prerequisites of being a 'good girl', and I wanted to be a 'good girl' and to please my parents."

In the beginning, I did not have a sense that what Uncle Bill was doing was wrong," she recalled. "I only knew that he was hurting me. I am not sure when I determined that the acts were wrong, but I remember not telling because it would make my father angry with Uncle Bill, and it would hurt my mother terribly."

"Children need to be held close and kissed and told they are special by members of their family. When a hug is given by an adult and a child reciprocates they do so out of trust. When incest results because a child trusted and came close that trust is violated. For me the trust was violated too often, and now, even with therapy, I do not trust anyone. I do not have many friends, and I do not confide my personal thoughts and feelings to anyone. I have been married to the same man for 16 years, and have what most people would consider a good marriage. I give

Grayling Ruins Rogers City's Homecoming with 33-18 Romp

Despite hail in the third quarter and muddy field conditions, the Viking's offensive team led Grayling to a 33-18 victory over Rogers City on Friday, October 6. "Frank Hartwick, Todd Thorsen, Max Prosser, Jeff Edinger and David Teddy played their best line effort of the season," said Coach Don Stowers. "Center Nate Ginter also did a good job during the second half." John Lamie ran 54 yards for Grayling's first touchdown of the game. Lamie scored touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters racking up 99 yards in three carries. Andy Eriksson successfully kicked three out of five extra point attempts.

In the third quarter Mick McKinney ran in from 65 yards, and Dana Mirate scored Grayling's last touchdown on a four yard run.

Grayling was on Rogers City's two yard line near the end of the game and let the clock run out to end the game.

Pass interceptions played a major part of Grayling's defensive effort. Interceptions were made by Matt Branch, Jim Abney, Dana Mirate and Mick McKinney.

"David Teddy had a recovered fumble and Todd Thorsen knocked the ball loose so he could cover it," Stowers said.

He said that Grayling's offense moved the ball well, but stopped themselves with penalties.

The Vikings travel to Ste. St. Marie this Saturday for a doubleheader with the J.V.'s. The J.V.'s play at 11:30 a.m. and the Varsity plays at 1:30 p.m.

"The Soo has a good sized team that likes to run over you," stated Stowers. He said during their last game they only passed the ball five times, and during a game before that, they passed only once. "Their pass is very effective," said Stowers, "because you don't expect it."

JV's Win Again Beat Rogers 30-6

The Grayling J.V.'s broke through a tough Rogers City defense last Thursday night, October 5, to score on four key plays that gave the Vikings the victory, 30-6.

"Rogers City was a good team with some hard hitting kids," said Coach Fred Wolcott. "They controlled the ball during the entire first quarter, allowing us only five offensive plays," Wolcott said.

Grayling's first touchdown came with one second to go in the second quarter on an 80 yard run by Don Baker. Gary Schroyer took the ball in for a two point conversion, making the half time score, 8-0.

During the Viking's second possession in the third quarter, quarterback Aaron Raymond threw a 50 yard touchdown pass to Matt Gingerich. Again Schroyer ran the ball in for two points, plays were pretty good." Suzy Lovely said that the team improved in the second half, but they could have done better. Darlie McCurdy said the team did a good job.

and the score was 16-0.

Schroyer scored again in the third quarter on a 70 yard run. The extra point failed, but Grayling held a comfortable 22-0 lead over Rogers City.

Rogers City's only touchdown came early in the fourth quarter on a one yard run. They missed the extra point. The score was 22-6, Grayling.

Baker scored Grayling's final touchdown of the game on a 75 yard run making the score 28-6. Schroyer carried the ball in for his third two point conversion, cementing Grayling's win, 30-6.

"Donny Baker was really hitting," said Wolcott. "He played an outstanding game both offensively and defensively."

Scott Hartman, Chris Lehti, Mark Andrus and Jason Neeley also played tough defensive games.

The J.V.'s travel to Sault Ste. Marie this Saturday, October 14, for a double header featuring the J.V.'s at 11:30 a.m. and the Varsity at 1:30 p.m.

"Grayling J.V.'s are 4-2 for the season," Coach Wolcott stated, "and they should be 6-0. We can beat anyone."

Jr. Pro Basketball Sign-Up Underway

Boys and girls in grades 3-6 have until Saturday, Oct. 21, to register for Junior Pro basketball. Games begin in December. There is a $7 fee. Parents can register their children at R & H Sports.

Viking Girls Use Defense To Win 36-26

In a low scoring, defensive struggle, Grayling's Varsity girls were victorious over Petoskey last Thursday, October 5, beating them 36-26.

Petoskey took an early lead in the first quarter and led Grayling 21-20 at half time.

Grayling came back defensively in the second half and held Petoskey to only five points in the second half.

Coach Howard Lehti said Grayling's momentum was starting to build just before the end of the first half, and continued into the third and especially the fourth quarters.

"Petoskey and Grayling are two good defensive basketball teams," said Lehti.

Sophomore Michelle Burcham took high scoring honors with 12 points and 14 rebounds, helping the effort was: Melanie Ojala with 9 points, 9 rebounds and 1 assist; Heather Stephenson 8, 6 rebounds and 3 assists; Nikki Morrill 4, 2 rebounds and 1 assist; and Anne Petrosky with 3 points.

Nikki Trenary, Margarita Perez and Shannon Hinds helped with assists and rebounding.

"Anne Petrosky played her best game for the year," stated Lehti. "Anne saw a lot of action, especially in the second half, and was the necessary spark plug to keep the ball club fired up in the second half."

It was an entirely different story on Tuesday, October 3, when Gaylord played host to Grayling and proved they were the better of the two teams, beating Grayling, 66-46.

"Gaylord had four of their starting five shoot in double figures, 20, 15, 12, and 10," said Lehti.

Grayling led Gaylord 15-13 at the end of the first quarter, but Gaylord did not flinch. According to Coach Lehti, they stuck to their game plan and by half time were ahead of Grayling, 30-24.

Michelle Burcham led her team with 14 points and 7 rebounds. Nikki Morrill had 13 points, 3 rebounds and 1 assist; Heather Stephenson (who shot 6 out of 7 free throws) had 10, 1 rebound and 4 assists; and Melanie Ojala 9, 3 rebounds and 6 assists.

Nikki Trenary, Margarita Perez, Claudine Allen and Lisa Barber helped assist the team under the basket.

Lehti said Grayling's lack of rebounding gave Gaylord many second and third shots under the basket.

"Grayling's key rebounders are going to have to do a more consistent job on the boards," Lehti said.

Grayling hosted Cheboygan on Tuesday, and will be playing host to Roscommon on Thursday, October 12.

Roscommon beat Grayling, 53-32, during the season opener at Roscommon; however, Lehti cautioned Roscommon that they will not be playing the same inexperienced team they played and beat September 6th.

J.V. Cindy Fedewa, Brenda Moshier, Andrea Austin and Michelle Parker pulled out all the stops last week, but it was not enough to win against Gaylord and Petoskey. Gaylord defeated the J.V. girls, 53-26, on Tuesday, October 3, and Petoskey won, 50-27, on Thursday, October 5.

Coach Dallas Hudson said his basketball team was weak fundamentally and did not execute its game plan.

Fedewa led her team in points scored again.

st Petoskey with 7. Other points were made by: Moshier 6, Austin 4, Parker 3, Elissa Cox, Kris Welch and Kim Labo had 2 points each and Tara Bertalan with 1 point.

Petoskey led Grayling, 14-4, at the end of the first quarter, 28-14 at half time and 36-17 at the end of the third quarter. The final score was 50-27.

Hudson stated that Austin and Moshier's rebounding and Parker and Fedewa's defense kept Petoskey from running away with the game.

On Tuesday night, Gaylord played an excellent game, executing their game plan easily against Grayling.

"Gaylord is a fundamentally strong ball club," said Hudson, "and scored against us almost at will." He said every player on Gaylord's team scored during the game.

Fedewa was high scorer with 10 points. Moshier had 6 points with 7 rebounds, Austin 4 with 6 rebounds and Welch, Parker and Bertalan had 2 points each.

Labo was tough under the basket with 9 rebounds.

The J.V.'s hosted Cheboygan on Tuesday and will be playing Roscommon at home, October 12.

8th Graders Use Second Half Combacks

By Nicole Gingerich

The eighth grade girls basketball team has won three games and lost two. The team seems to have a strong second half. The whole team has improved since last year.

The eighth graders beat Gaylord St. Mary's twice and Roscommon once. They lost against Gaylord and St. Ignace.

There are 17 girls on the team: Jamie Andrus, Amy Anthony, Amanda Bankert, Heather Bindschattel, Val Elmy, Jenny Evans, Jennifer Fassinger, Amy Furst, Nicole Gingerich, Suzy Lovely, Jessica McClain, Darlie McCurdy, Angie Mertes, Mande Micek, Michelle Sampsel, Melissa Wakeley, and April Watts. The captains are Jamie Andrus and Angie Mertes.

When the eighth graders played Roscommon, they were losing before the second half 14-0. They came back with free throws. Melissa Wakeley said, "the team did a great job. We played our game, not their game. The

What man replaced his own father as head coach of a National Football League team? The answer is Wade Phillips who became head coach of the New Orleans Saints during the 1985 season, replacing his father, Bum Phillips, who resigned. Wade had been an assistant coach with the team.

Amazingly, 3 times in college football history, a team has scored more than 200 points in a game...Beside the record-setting Georgia Tech win over Cumberland 222-0 in 1916, St. Viator of Illinois beat Lane College 205-0 in 1916, and King College of Tennessee beat Lenoir-Rhyne 206-0 in 1922.

Here's an interesting fact...Since the Associated Press began selecting the national champion in major college football in 1936, only once has a team won the national championship with more than one loss...That happened in 1960 when Minnesota lost 2 games but was voted the national champ...All other teams that have won the national championship from 1936 through 1988 were either undefeated or lost just one game that year.

I bet you didn't know that Mark Sloan can offer you the buy of a lifetime on whatever your transportation needs are. It's cooler outside, but the deals are hot inside Scheer Motors in Grayling!

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY AND INTERESTED PARTIES

The Following is Published by Direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission in Case No. U-9475
NOTICE OF HEARING

On September 11, 1989, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company (MichCon) filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (Commission) requesting authority to amend its gas rate schedules to increase its annual gas revenues by approximately $78.8 million. In support of its application, MichCon filed testimony and exhibits.

MichCon is a Michigan corporation with principal offices located at 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan and is engaged in the distribution, sale and transportation of natural gas to approximately one million residential, commercial and industrial customers in Michigan.

MichCon's current rates were approved by the Commission in Consolidated Cases Nos. U-8635, U-8812 and U-8854 and were based on MichCon's projected operating results for the year ending June 30, 1989.

MichCon represents that, beginning January 1991, its current rates will be inadequate to permit it to earn a fair return on its intrastate utility property dedicated to public use. MichCon further represents that these rates will not be just, reasonable and nonconfiscatory as required by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Michigan.

MichCon represents that it will continue to incur increases in its cost of providing natural gas service which include additions to and replacements of utility plant needed to provide safe and reliable service, related depreciation, operation and maintenance expense, uncollectibles, taxes and higher capital costs.

MichCon represents that its request for rate relief is based on a projected test year beginning January 1, 1991. Applied to projected test year sales and transportation, MichCon represents that its base rates now in effect produce annual revenues which fall short of its projected test year cost of service by approximately $78.8 million annually and that the current rates will not recover increased costs and provide the 9.44% overall rate of return on its investment, including a 14% return on common equity, requested in its application.

MichCon represents that its proposed rates would increase its annual revenues by approximately $78.8 million over the annual revenue produced by existing rates.

Tables A and B below are comparisons of MichCon's existing and proposed rates and charges by rate schedule.

MichCon also proposes the following additional tariff changes:

1. Adding a provision to Sales Rate Schedule No. 1 to provide for a $25.00 charge for basic convenience, or seasonal-on, orders.
2. Adding a provision to Sales Rate Schedule Nos. 1, 2 and 2A to provide for a $10.00 charge for the first field collection call made in any month which does not result in a discontinuance of service.
3. Reducing the Transportation Rate Schedule Nos. T-1 and T-2 charge for use of its production and gathering facilities to $.1880 per thousand cubic feet (Mcf).
4. Adding provisions to Transportation Rate Schedule Nos. T-1 and T-2 to provide for a charge of $.10 per Mcf, per month on excess deliveries not approved in the months of September through November.

In addition, MichCon requests the following:

1. Approval of an Operating Incentive Plan.
2. Elimination of its 90:10 refunding mechanism.
3. Amortization and recovery of the costs associated with the Positive Billing Program pursuant to 1989 PA 200, Section 814.

MichCon's filing, including its testimony and exhibits, is available for inspection at the offices of the Commission's Executive Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, and at the offices of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan.

FOOTBALL Contest

1st Place Wins $50 Each Week!

In our closest contest ever, 13 persons had 17 right. Gwen Westmoreland took 1st place by hitting the 1st tiebreaker right on the button with a guess of 41 total points for the Detroit-Minnesota game. (Those Lions managed to blow it again).

Westmoreland edged out Ace Worden (tiebreaker pick of 40), Kathleen Cherven (39), Mike Kirmo (44), Bob Gingerich (17), Corky Hellebuyck (36), Mike McNamara (34), John Juntilla (48), Walt Tilson (50), Bobby Gennrich (50), Marvin Barrett (54), Leon D'Amour (54), and Mark Hartman (53).

Most of our contest players had a good week with the college games but there were a couple big surprises at the pro level. The Holy Cross - Dartmouth game didn't throw off too many of you so we'll head out west for a tough game (see #6).

The leaders in the overall contest are Mike McNamara with 78 right; Gary Derenzy and Mick McNamara 75; Heidi Mead 74; Corky Hellebuyck and Marie St. Germain 73; Mike Beckwith 72; Steven Fick 71; Ace Worden, Gary McLaughlin, Art Malknecht, Marvin Forbes, Mike Brady, and Warren Galvani 70.

The Gospel of John Part #89

Prayer for our Love
In John 17:23b-26, Christ made His last request to God for us in His high priestly prayer. He prayed for us to experience the fullness of divine love. Notice the quality of this love in John 17:23b: "...that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me." God the Father loves us with the same love He loves His only begotten Son.

Next, Christ prays for our presence with Him in love. "Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am..." (John 17:24a). Along with this prayer for our fellowship in love, Christ prays that we might share His glory: "...that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me..." (John 17:24b). Through His word we already behold some of this glory. (2 Cor. 4:6). Through His word we become partakers of this glory. (2 Cor. 3:18). Finally, we notice the eternality of this glory: "...for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world..." (John 17:24c). Someday this love will unite us with Christ for all eternity.

This divine love is revealed to man by a righteous God. "O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee; but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me." Christ told us in John 16:8-11 that the Holy Spirit would reprove the world of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment. Therefore the love of a righteous God divides the entire world into believers and unbelievers. Those who reject God's love in Christ abide under God's wrath for eternity. (John 3:36). God's love is not neutral, it is righteous, and based upon the holiness of His character. We cannot accept God's love without His holiness. Finally, Christ's prayer reminds us of His declaration of God's love and the results He prays for us. "And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them." (John 17:26). Christ is praying that we may have divine love to fulfill His will for our lives. One cannot separate the love of Christ and His presence within our hearts and lives. We become "...rooted and grounded in love" when Christ dwells in our hearts by faith. (Eph. 3:17). This union began when we were dead in sins. "But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved.) (Eph. 2:4, 5). God's love is manifested by the presence and power of a loving Christ living His life through our bodies. This is the ultimate in divine love. CHURCH DIRECTORY

It Endures

Man can build skyscrapers and miles of highways—even go to the moon. But he can't create a tree. A tree withstands the summer heat and the cold of winter. How many windstorms have buffeted it? How many times has it lost its leaves in autumn, only to be reborn the following spring?

A tree like this has much in common with the churches and synagogues of our nation. They, too, have endured countless storms and have stood the test of time. And like a giant tree, their roots go deep.

Stability—you can depend on it.

Hunting

By Joe Murphy

I remember when I was a kid just starting deer hunting I was told a lot of things by old hunters that time proved weren't true. Now when someone tries to tell me deer ALWAYS do a certain thing I take it with a grain of salt. In all my years in the deer woods I have found nothing that deer ALWAYS do. A wounded deer doesn't ALWAYS run with his tail down. A wounded deer doesn't ALWAYS run down hill. Just about the time you figure a deer ALWAYS does a certain thing, the next one will prove you wrong.

Deer are very interesting animals. I seem to learn some thing new about them every deer season. But each seems to be a law unto itself, especially the wise old bucks. They can sometimes show you a bag of tricks that can really make you scratch your head. They didn't get big and old by being stupid. I have jumped some big bucks out of places that you wouldn't expect a jack rabbit could hide in. I have killed a big buck now and then in places that no one would ever expect to find one hiding. I like to check those little patches of brush right out in the middle of an open field. Everyone knows that a deer wouldn't be in a place like that, but wise old bucks seem to know that too.

If you decide to check a place like that don't head right at it. Take an angle that will pass close and walk along at a fast pace paying no attention to the spot. When you get close head right at it, sometimes a nice buck will go boiling out of there. Wise old bucks seem to hold tight and make you just about step on them before they'll jump. After hunting pressure has been on a few days, I like to look for those little spots that no one pays any attention to.

When I was a kid in our cow pasture there was a little patch of brush and blackberry bushes we called the buck hole. Dad or I would check it every day and sometime during the season it paid off. I don't know the total bucks killed there but it was plenty.

I guess one of the rules of deer hunting is to expect the unexpected. Just when you decide to move to a better location, there goes a bunch of deer that would have been right in your lap if you'd sat still.

I remember one time years ago I came out to a trail and was about fifty yards behind a couple of guys who were talking and laughing, they passed a little clump of brush not over thirty foot from the trail. Soon after they passed I saw this buck stand up and try to sneak across the trail behind them, when the buck got well out of line with them I killed him. They would not believe that buck had been laying there even when they saw his bed. So as I said expect the unexpected. Next week we'll get in to the work of hunting, field dressing your kill and getting it out of the woods.

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover
Hartwick Pines Interpreter

The last three weeks have been hectic and stress filled. Not because of activities in the park, but due to a death in my family. So now perhaps the season will settle upon an even keel as we all prepare for the coming of winter.

As you can see by looking out any window, it seems the trees are simply ablaze with color. With this wind and rain those same leaves will soon be on the ground where they serve as an insulating blanket for the soil, and later as compost, to continue the enrichment of that same soil.

If you haven't taken a walk outdoors lately, I would urge you to do so. The air is rich and heady with the smells of fall, although you may not appreciate the odor of the White Baneberry or Doll's Eye, which is reminiscent of the smell of a bear. If you walk the trail through the pines be aware that the red squirrels are cutting down pine cones and the squirrels don't care if you are under the tree or not.

We have had reports of pileated woodpeckers, turkeys and deer being seen in the pines as well. So come scuff through the leaves as nature turns the Tall Timber into a world of golden yellow. I dislike saying so, but it won't be long and the air will be truly frosty and the world will be clothed in basic white, so don't wait. Come enjoy the glory of fall.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

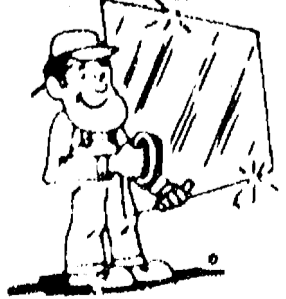

Farm Boy

Happy, carefree, little man
Farmer's son with cheeks of tan
His overalls is all you wear
Your days are bright and free from care
You wear no shoes upon your feet
You can run and play and life is sweet
Work in the garden pulling weeds
That are crowding out Mom's garden seeds
With slingshot in your overalls' pocket
If you get a chance at a crow, you're gonna sock it
You and your best friend Rover
Chase butterflies in fields of clover
Maybe you take your old cane pole
And go down to the fishing hole
It's a cool shady place to while away
The afternoon of a hot summer day
With Rover to keep you company
You sit and dream of days to be
The sun is sinking, it's getting late
You race Rover back to the barn yard gate
Then you hear the dinner bell ring
The thought of chicken and dumplings makes your tummy sing
When supper's over, the swimming hole will wash away
The dirt and sweat of your busy day
You go to bed and dreams are sweet
With Rover sleeping at your feet
Oh! farmer's son I know your joy
For I too was a farmer's boy

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

Several years ago bow hunters were allowed to commence using tree stands for hunting. The law was specific in saying that the tree stands were to be portable; however by policy, such tree stands were allowed to be nailed to trees in the belief that they would be removed at the end of the hunting season. Well, one doesn't have to look far to realize that there weren't many of these "portable" devices removed from the woods.

The law then evolved so that the name of the user of a tree stand must be on the stand. This didn't stop the proliferation of these eyesores, so that now the use of a tree stand which is nailed, screwed, bolted or otherwise permanently attached to a tree on lands open to public hunting is unlawful.

This is a prime

example of what happens when abuse of a privilege takes place - the privilege is lost. There is a strong feeling among some to restrict the use of tree stands completely.

Another subject of concern is the way the use of artificial bait has grown in recent years. This is estimated to be a $26 million business in Michigan - an important economic factor.

But what of the long term effects of baiting? No one knows how the habits of deer may be changed by the tons of carrots, apples and sugar beets scattered around. It certainly effects the deer in the short term and takes a lot of skill out of hunting. It's getting so one doesn't have to be a good hunter to get a deer - just be able to dump some bait under a handy tree.

A Look At Our Past

23 YEARS AGO
October 6, 1966

The search for Miss Grayling 1967 officially began on Wednesday, October 5, at a Senior Girls Assembly at the Grayling High School. Mrs. Earl H. Longworth, Pageant Director and Mrs. William Kraus, Contestant Hostess, were on hand to answer all questions and explain the rule and regulations governing the pageant.

The official enrollment in the Crawford-AuSable Schools taken on the fourth Friday after Labor Day revealed an increase of 85 students over last year's totals. Enrollment in the elementary schools was 740 and the Grayling High School enrollment was 550. At St. Mary's school the count was 128 students, a decrease of one from last year.

New paving was completed by the city in front of the Grayling Agency and the Harold Jarvin home on Michigan Avenue. Grayling's fall Carnival of Color sponsored by the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce was set for Friday and Saturday, October 7th and 8th.

Mother Nature cooperated and brought out flaming colors in the trees in the city as well as through the hills and plains of the county.

Some of the activities slated for the weekend are: the Grayling Jaycee's dunk tank, a chain saw contest on Saturday, refreshment booths by church and civic organizations and a dance at the Grayling High School Gym on Saturday.

46 YEARS AGO
October 7, 1943

The County Road Commission has made application for a contract to take over the maintenance of state trunkline highways within Crawford County. This statement has caused considerable comment and discussion. Frank Sales is the chairman with Arthur Feldhauser and Elmer Corsaut the other two commissioners. James Richardson, a licensed surveyor, is superintendent. According to statements made there are 72 miles of State trunkline highways in the county, while there are 754 miles of county highway. The former employs a crew of 15 men to care for the 72 miles of paved highway, while the county employs but two more men - 17 men, to maintain the 754 miles of county highway.

The county highways are not paved but of gravel and dirt roads. Final home football game Saturday. During the last two weeks the locals have shown little improvement, in fact the blocking in the West Branch game was far below the blocking displayed in the opening game with Mancelona. This can be attributed to the indifference of squad members to training rules and to attendance at practice sessions. Last Friday Grayling defeated West Branch 20-0. The two teams were evenly matched with Grayling being more successful on passes to score. The West Branch eleven outplayed the Grayling squad during the last half while the locals had the advantage during the first two periods.

Miss Donna Brown is the new waitress at the Grayling Restaurant.

Miss Fern Akers is the new clerk at the Sales Ben Franklin stores, starting Monday.

Dennis Lovely was home from Willow Run the first of the week visiting his family.

It is reported that the steamship on which Floyd Millikin is serving in the Merchant Marines is missing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millikin of Beaver Creek.

Pvt. Clifford Parker has arrived in North Africa according to his mother, Mrs. Laura Parker. He is serving with the engineers and is playing trombone in the organization's band.

Fire destroyed the Ben DeLaMater home at about 3 o'clock this morning. It is reported to have started in the woodshed, and it is believed by fire chief Middle LaMotte that is was caused by spontaneous combustion.

The flames spread so rapidly that Mrs. DeLaMater had to climb out of an upstairs window and hold onto a ledge from where she was rescued. She re-entered the burning building fearing that her children were still in it. She was overcome by smoke and is now in Mercy Hospital from the effects and from shock. The building and entire contents were destroyed.

A son was born to Pvt. and Mrs. Roy Kinnisto at Mercy Hospital Wednesday morning. He weighed 8 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces. Mrs. Kinnisto is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Wirtanen.

69 YEARS AGO
October 7, 1920

Mr. and Mrs. Angus McPhee and son Edgar are returning from Milwaukee and Watford, Wis., Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Schaaf are receiving the felicitations of their friends on the birth of twins, a boy and a girl, to them at Mercy Hospital Sunday, October 3.

Mrs. Orson Corwin was genuinely surprised Sunday afternoon when her relatives numbering 30 walked in on her to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary.

George Annis of Beaver Creek township was the first farmer in this county to purchase a Fordson tractor. Mr. Annis is one of our most progressive and enterprising farmers.

Thomas Cassidy has taken over the management of Shoppenagons Inn, succeeding W. E. Herron. The new manager has been a successful business man in this community for nearly 10 years. He built the Model Bakery up to a fine business and since selling it a couple of years ago, he had been doing commercial traveling.

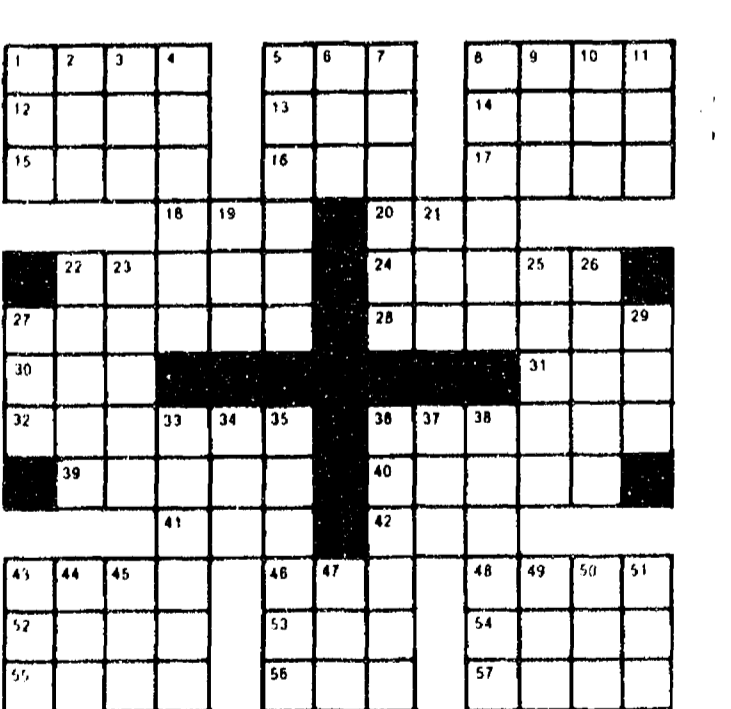

Last Thursday 25 ladies, friends of Mrs. Anna Harrington, gave her a surprise by going to her home to spend the afternoon and remaining for supper and evening.

According to an order received from assistant Postmaster General the local office closes at 6 p.m. daily instead of 7 p.m. as heretofore.

GHS Hosts Michigan Opera Music in Review Production

On Saturday, Oct. 14, the Crawford AuSable School District Community School Program will host the Michigan Opera Theatre's two-part musical production entitled Michigan Music in Review and Broadway Babies and Phantoms in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium at Grayling High School.

Doors will open at 6:45 p.m. and the show will begin at 7:30 p.m.

There will only be one performance and seating is limited. Send in your request for tickets to the Community Education Box Office at 403 Mich. Ave., Grayling, or call 348-7641 ext. 27. Tickets are $5 adults, $4 senior citizens and students.

The Weyerhaeuser Performing Artist Series will open the season with the Fats Waller Broadway Musical Hit "Ain't Misbehavin'" on Friday, October 13, 1989 at 8 p.m. The performance will be at the Gilbert I. Stewart Auditorium at Kirtland Community College.

It won a "Tony" as Best Musical, and the New York Drama Critics' Circle and the Outer Critics' Circle both followed suit, accounting for only three of the eight major theater awards proclaiming "Ain't Misbehavin'" a joy to behold.

Consisting of some thirty songs written or made famous by one of America's most adored jazzmen, Thomas "Fats" Waller, "Ain't Misbehavin'" recreates on stage the atmosphere of a delectably lowdown Harlem cabaret of the 1930's. Along with its title song, it offers foot-stomping renditions of such Waller classics as "Honeysuckle Rose," "Squeeze Me," and "The Joint is Jumpin'" performed by an ebullient singing and dancing ensemble.

Other composers whose songs Waller turned into world wide hits are also aired in the solos, duets and production numbers that make up this award winning entertainment. "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself A Letter," "Two Sleepy People," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and "It's a Sin To Tell A Lie" are some of the memorable standards that are given a rousing reprise.

Tickets for "Ain't Misbehavin'" are $10 and 8.50 for regular admission and $8 and 6.50 for students and senior citizens 55 years and up. Tickets may be reserved by calling Kirtland Community College at 275-5121 or 800-438-2517, or writing Kirtland Community College Performing Artist Series, 10775 N. St. Helen Road, Roscommon, MI 48863. Please include your name, address, and phone number; and payment, number of tickets required and whether they are regular, student or senior citizen.

The Weyerhaeuser Performing Artist Series at Kirtland Community College receives major funding from the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation and is funded in part by the Kirtland Foundation.

CITIZEN AWARD-- Members of the Chamber Advisory Committee who were responsible for the Chamber's Pledge Drive '89 were the recipients of the Chamber's Citizen-of-the-Year Award. Board President Richard Albee, right, is shown presenting the award to committee members: (l-r) Paul Thompson, Jim Bourrie, Rose Duley, and Ron Fraser. Other committee members not present are: Chairman Ron Phillips, Ernie Dawson and Ralph Stevens.

ABWA Reviews Their Goals

The Grayling Chapter of the American Business Womens Association held its regular meeting on Tuesday, September 19, at the home of Connie Pillaro. Several members brought guests for this special Fall Roundup.

Karen Casler was the vocational speaker for the evening. A discussion was held regarding the 1990 Spring Conference which will be held in Traverse City and how the Grayling Chapter can help. A review of ABWA's goals, objectives and activities was held. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 17.

now is a problem with your homeowners insurance.

Home, sweet home. Sometimes it's difficult to keep it that way. And the problem with homeowner's insurance is you never know how good it is until the roof caves in. Then it can be too late. A Homeowners policy from Auto-Owners offers you replacement cost coverage on your home and personal property. Some homes qualify for optional Guaranteed Home Replacement cost coverage. And the great news is...this one encompassing policy may cost you less than the coverage you have now because Auto-Owners offers several discounts and rating advantages.
